A NEW WEEK — FR. JOHN VIEN

October is Respect Life Month, as I noted last week, and I also want to note that October is also Domestic Violence Awareness month. You may be used to me using this space to write about spiritual or liturgical things, or about practical matters concerning our parish, but I also believe that we should be aware of societal problems like domestic violence. I have served on the Board of Directors for Lydia's House, a local organization that provides for the housing, counseling, and other needs of women and children who are healing from domestic violence. Sadly, I have also counseled and heard the confessions of abusers, victims, and survivors and my heart always breaks at their sad stories. Sadly, as we have seen with athletes, entertainers, and even politicians, violence against women is all but uncommon. So let us say loud and clear: violence against anyone, especially women and children, is never acceptable, anytime!

Besides my two brothers, I have three older sisters. When I was a boy, all of us would fight, but I seemed to fight more with my sisters. When our fighting and hitting and yelling inevitably reached our parents, I can remember my father saying again and again to me, "You never, ever hit a girl." While my sisters would smile smugly at this turn of events, I would usually fume that life was so unfair: my sisters could hit me but I couldn't hit them? I didn't realize it at the time, but I recognized it later in life: my father wasn't just breaking up a fight, he was teaching me a life lesson. It really is never acceptable to hit a girl, to hit a woman, whether you are 8, or 28, or 48 years old.

About 30% of women will experience abuse in their lifetime. This is an epidemic! The abuse may be emotional, physical, or even financial. While about 95% of abuse is directed by men toward women, I'd be remiss without acknowledging that men are sometimes victims of abuse as well, and abuse is also present among those in gay and lesbian relationships.

In our parish and in our community, we have victims of domestic violence. Our heart goes out to you in your pain and suffering. We want to extend to you our concern and offer our support for you in your struggle to free yourselves from violence and abuse.

Sadly, abusers do not easily abandon their violent ways. They need to be challenged and held accountable for their actions. Some abusers will excuse themselves by blaming alcohol or drugs, or perhaps they claim it's the stress that makes them violent or the abuse they suffered as children. All these factors may very well aggravate their violence but they are not the cause. Some men even blame their victims, claiming that if their partners were better wives or housekeepers, better mothers or more responsible, they themselves wouldn't get so mad. Basically they are blaming the victim, when the real reason for their abuse is their desire to exercise power and control over their partner.

Most women victims of domestic violence struggle to liberate themselves from their abuser, but that can be difficult to accomplish. Often we don't understand why they just don't pick up and leave their abusers. But factors like economic dependence and fear can make leaving difficult if not impossible, and we must not judge their lives or their reasoning.

Unfortunately, our Church has in some ways been complicit in this epidemic of domestic violence. We have not spoken out against it. We have preached plenty about the permanency of marriage but hardly ever that no one deserves to be abused and that no one should stay in an abusive relationship. Certainly abusers are quick to quote scripture to justify their power and control. They distort the Word of God by insisting women were created to serve men and that wives must be subject to their husbands.

It is time to set the record straight! The Church rejects all forms of domestic violence and urges women to protect themselves and their children, even if that means a separation and divorce from their abusers. Our church must help to protect them and assist them in freeing themselves from the violence. As a community of faith, let us reach out to every victim of domestic violence. We encourage you to come out of the shadows and seek help! We want to support you in your struggle for peace! We want you to be safe and free, filled with love, joy, and hope for the future!

Many of you know someone who is experiencing domestic violence. Please tell them they do not deserve such abuse. Tell them you are concerned about their safety and their children's and they have a right to be safe. Listen to them and respect their decisions, but assure them that you will support them whenever they decide to leave their abuser.

Let us entrust all these needs to our loving Lord, and pray that God will protect all women and children who are suffering domestic violence, and that every person, especially those who are most vulnerable, will have the gifts of peace and safety.

GAMAM is a ministry that supports the food pantry at St. Wenceslaus Parish in South St. Louis City. We share this ministry with Holy Infant (Ballwin) and serve 100-125 families on an average each month. The food pantry distributes food once a month; MQP is assigned the 4th Sunday of every month. Along with our 2 parishes' contributions the food pantry receives 100-150 boxes of food items per year donated by St. Louis Area Food Bank. We've just learned that, due to some new guidelines, the St. Louis Area Food Bank will no longer be providing support. The Boy Scout & Postal Workers' food drives are major contributors to St. Louis Area food drives. That means St. Wenceslaus will not receive any of those contributions. The need is now even greater for donations to this most worthy ministry in our community. First, we ask for your prayers for this parish and this ministry. Second, if you are able to contribute or increase your contribution by bringing any requested items to the Msgr. Lubeley Room on the 4th Sunday we would appreciate it. Thank you and God Bless you!!
